ROLES, OBJECTIVES and ETHICAL GUIDELINES

Section 1.0 Role of the ARSA Board for foundation of the Teacher Training System in the Asia Region Suzuki Association

- I. Overall responsibility for Teacher Training and arranging Examinations rests with the Asia Region Suzuki Association (ARSA) for every country in the region.
- II. The ARSA Board will decide who shall be allowed to train and examine teachers, subject to the considerations set out in this manual.
- III. The ARSA updates and keeps the list of ARSA Teacher Trainers and Trainers from other regions who are actively training in ARSA region. The list can be requested via the ARSA secretary (asiasuzuki.secretary@gmail.com)
- IV. The ARSA may add new Teacher Trainers to the ARSA approved list following these guidelines:
  - a) The ARSA Country Association submits a request for the addition of a new trainer to hold a training course in the ARSA region including the trainer's CV and a recommendation letter from the Country Association .
  - b) The ARSA board of directors votes and approves the new trainer before it is added to the list of published ARSA Teacher Trainers.
- V. The ARSA may take Teacher Trainers off the ARSA approved list following these guidelines:
  - a) The Country Association through its representative presents the case of the Teacher Trainer to the ARSA board of directors showing that the Teacher Trainer is not following the procedures of the ARSA teacher training manual and/or other issues.
  - b) The ARSA board of directors votes to take the trainer off the list of approved ARSA Teacher Trainers.
- VI. The ARSA follows the most recently updated ISA Policy in Teacher Training as published on the ISA website.

Section 1.1 Role of the Country Associations in the ARSA

- I. The Country Associations have responsibility for arranging Teacher Training Courses and Examinations subject to the overriding supervision of the ARSA.
- II. The Country Association must approve the training in order for training to be recognized by ARSA. Training must be held in the host country and taught by ARSA Teacher Trainers. If training is held online, it must still be taught by ARSA approved Teacher Trainers and follow the training requirements outlines in the ARSA Teacher Training Manual.
- III. Where no Country Association exists, decisions rest with the ARSA.
- IV. University based training may be offered. Such programs must comply with the standards set in this manual. The instructor(s) must be ARSA Approved Teacher Trainer(s), and details of the course syllabus must be approved by the Country Association and ARSA.
- V. The ARSA Board will ensure that only the most recently updated authorized editions of the core Suzuki materials are used as the basis for teacher training, and teaching and learning the Suzuki Method in the ARSA countries.
